Please let me know..Q: get the.py file path from a python file How do I get the path to the.py file for a given Python file in my script? I tried os.path.realpath(os.path.normpath(os.path.dirname(__file__))), but this didn't work. A: __file__ is the name of the first file inside your package, normally the one with the __init__.py file. So you can just use __file__, the line in the __init__.py is not needed and not interesting. The infected file is malicious, so if your anti-virus is not updating automatically, or you haven't run a scan for a few days or weeks, you may want to check. Additionally, you can use the Windows built-in VirusScanner to scan for malware. If you are infected by driver_kegan.jz or driver_kegan.jz, you will need to reinstall the appropriate drivers. If your device is no longer recognized, check the installation and uninstallation instructions on the product's CD. The conductor rails are typically mounted to the vehicles for movement therealong. Over time, such conductor rails may become damaged, for example, from vehicle braking. In these instances, the conductor rails may need to be repaired and/or replaced, which can add time and expense to rail vehicle service. One technique for repairing damaged conductor rails includes routing a bolt through the damaged rail and securing the rail to the vehicle. In some situations, the bolt may need to be removed to access other components that are stored in the cavity between the rail and the vehicle. It is desirable, however, to remove the bolt without first removing the rail. 2d92ce491b
