Q: Extract data from mysql table I'm trying to extract information from a mysql table. The table contains a list of email addresses. When a user clicks on a link, the list that appears contains a string that is similar to the one found in the database. So in fact, if the user clicks the link "island", the email address will be displayed as "island@yahoo.com". I'm trying to get the "yahoo" substring in the database, but I have no idea how. If I run this query, for example: `SELECT SUBSTRING(email, LOCATE('@', email) + 1) AS email FROM table`; I get this error: #1064 - You have an error in your SQL syntax; check the manual that corresponds to your MySQL server version for the right syntax to use near '@ + 1) AS email FROM `table` LIMIT 0, 30' at line 1

A: Try this: `SELECT SUBSTRING_INDEX(email, '@', 1) AS email` Here you go: `SELECT SUBSTRING_INDEX(email, '@', 1) AS email FROM table`; You can find a better explanation here: Plastic containers have been used to package fluid products in various shapes and sizes. The containers are typically cylindrical in shape and have been made from various materials such as polyethylene, polypropylene, polyester and paper. They have generally been designed to have a pour spout
