This letter came about from a Federal District Court Judge's questions of Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein, who was the Justice Department official who was in charge of the investigation of Hillary Clinton's email scandal during the 2016 presidential campaign. These questions pertained to the way in which the FBI handled a classified material. I refer to this information as "The FISA application." In a nutshell, the Judge concluded that the FBI had hidden exculpatory evidence in the FISA application in order to allow the Obama administration to spy on Carter Page, a former campaign adviser for Donald Trump. The Judge determined that these omissions were "intentional or reckless." This determination was made in the aftermath of a September 16, 2017 hearing. The Judge noted the fact that the FBI had accused Carter Page of being an agent of the Russian government. He made reference to the
